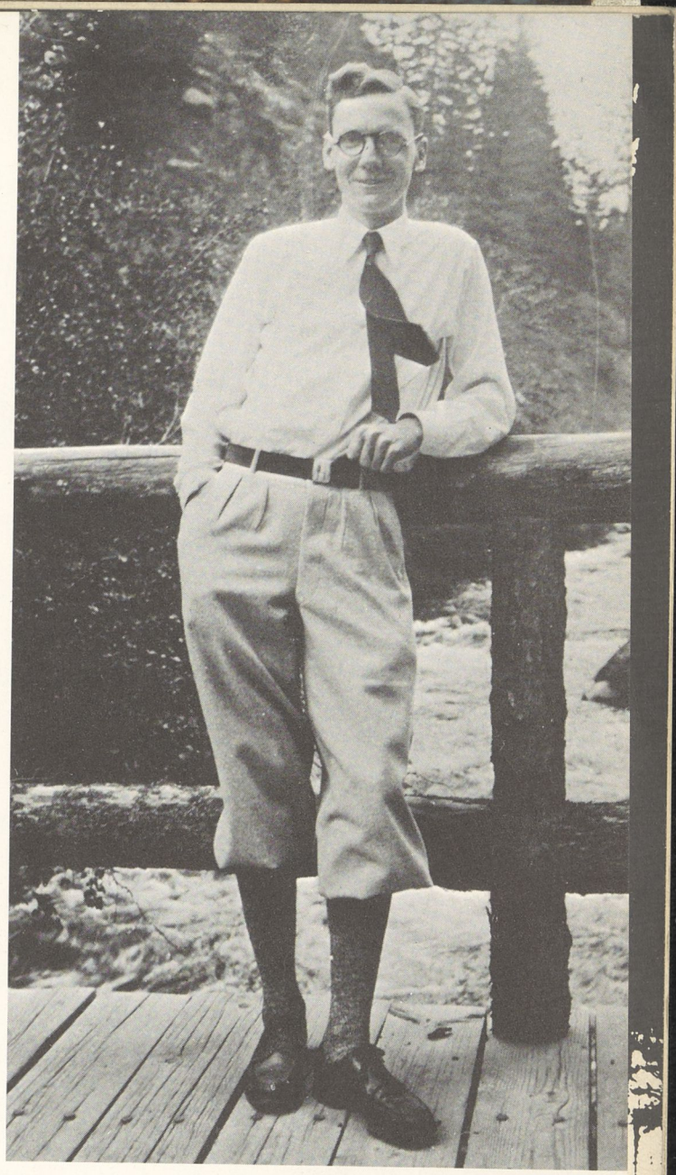
In Appreciation . . .

Dr. Calvert N. Ellis

. . . because he believes, "A college education must be more than an ornament or the recollection of adolescent college weekends. An education must be more than vocational preparation . . . Education must include an appreciation of the cultural inheritances of the race and the development of the satisfaction of the spirit."

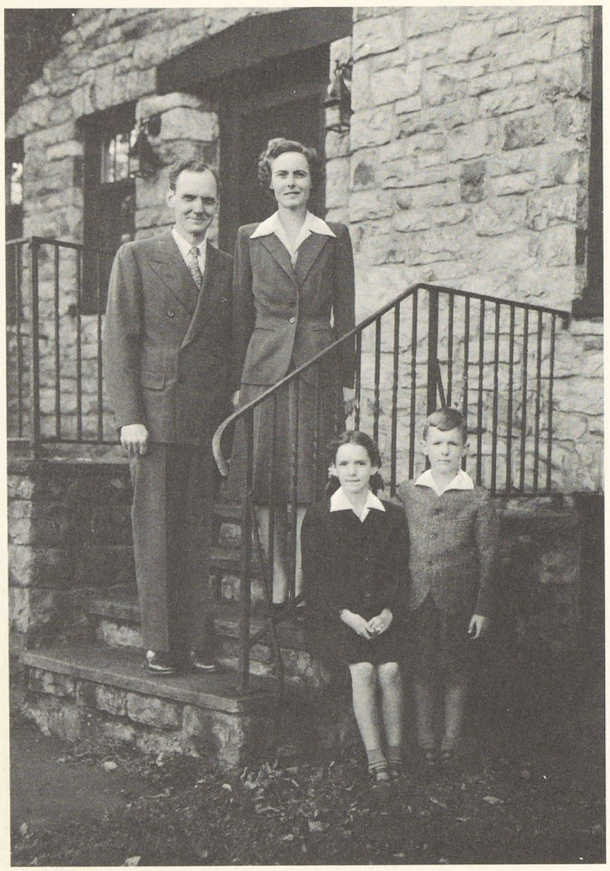
. . . because he not only is a whole man but has helped to develop whole men, we dedicate the 1968 Alfarata to President Calvert N. Ellis.

"Will you believe me when I say that . . feelings . . against various establishments I, too, have had at various times in my life . . .? There will always be an establishment. . . The important question for me is how have I reacted to this establishment? Have I tried carefully to get the facts and understand the reasons, or have I acted blindly and impulsively?" June, 1965



Dr. Calvert N. Ellis graduated from Juniata at seventeen years of age and headed for Princeton and then Yale for graduate study. Several years later he married a former JC May Queen and settled down to a busy life of college teaching, family activities, and personal hobbies.

"Those of us here on the campus can see a glorious future ahead for Juniata—if we properly meet the present need for improvement and additional facilities. We have a capable, loyal faculty and splendid student body, both in numbers and in quality. Juniata tomorrow can hold an enviable place among the nation's foremost liberal arts colleges—if we build firmly on the foundation which has been laid." October, 1946

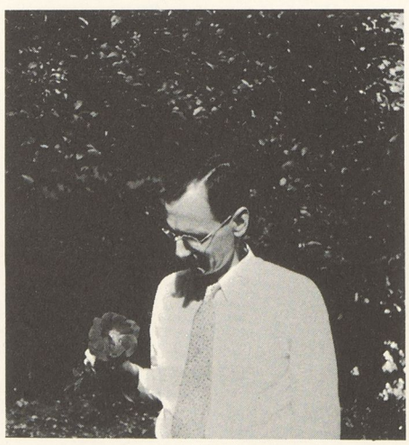


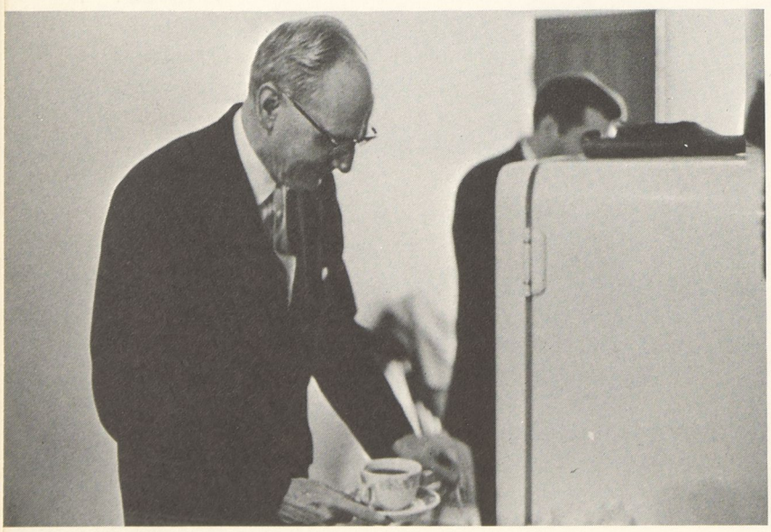
Dr. and Mrs. Ellis with their children Betty Ann and David.

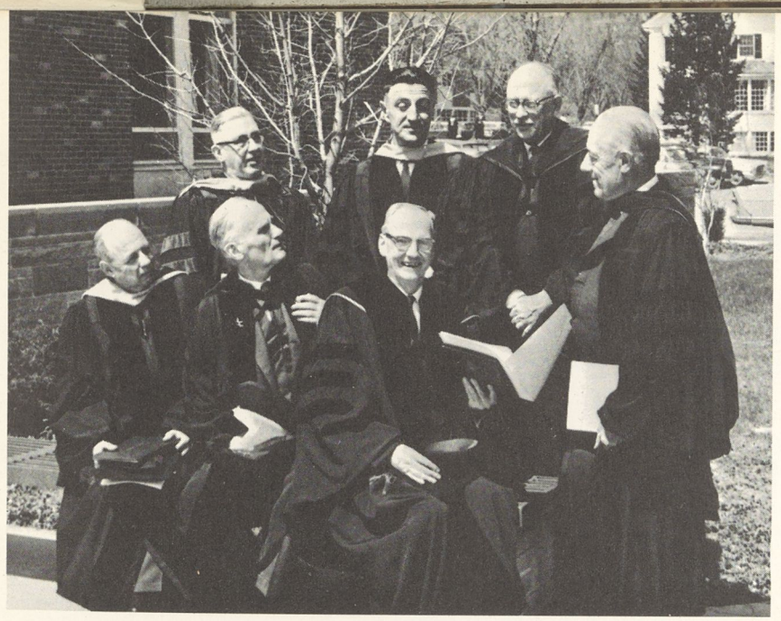
"It is not the unchangeable things that are changing, it is rather that we have lost faith in the constant things. These are at the very foundations of life and particularly our western culture. . . The most immediate human need is a faith in someone worthy of our trust, who is the truth, beyond all our ignorance and cynicism."

the whole man . . .

His varied interests included managing apple orchards in Waynesboro, Pennsylvania; growing roses; and leading the family's annual arbutus hunt.







Dedication of the Brumbaugh Science Complex.

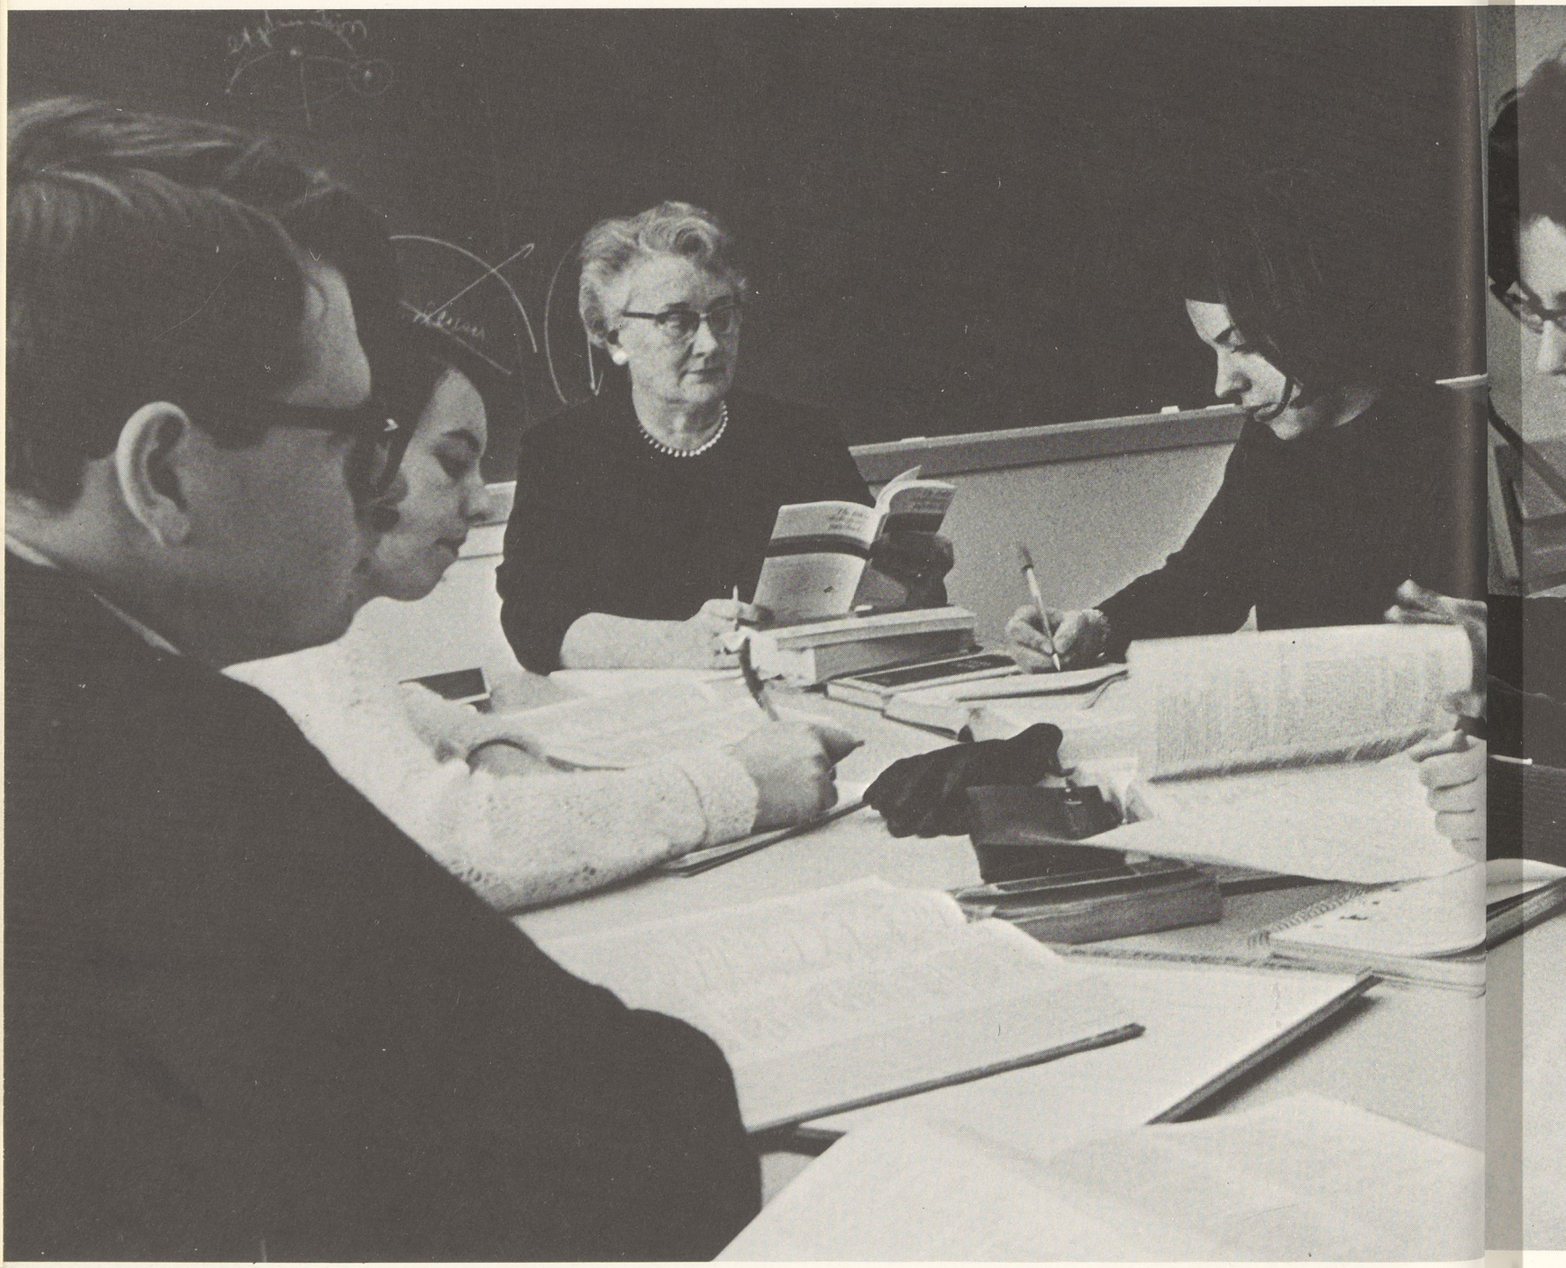
". . . I was very immature when I graduated from college and it was years before I examined the words I spoke so easily and which so many recognized, accepted and did not understand . . . but until you have related your questions to your life and decisions—your successes, your failures, and your search for love—you have a religion of words and appearances. . . I, like many of you, was nurtured in the Christian tradition. Because I questioned the reasonableness of the historic Christian faith, I studied it for myself. Then I taught it for a number of years, even to some of your parents . . .

In the twenty years since I left the classroom there have been great changes. . . However, the issues are still with us. God, man, and the world are more than words—they are realities with which we are concerned every day." June 1965

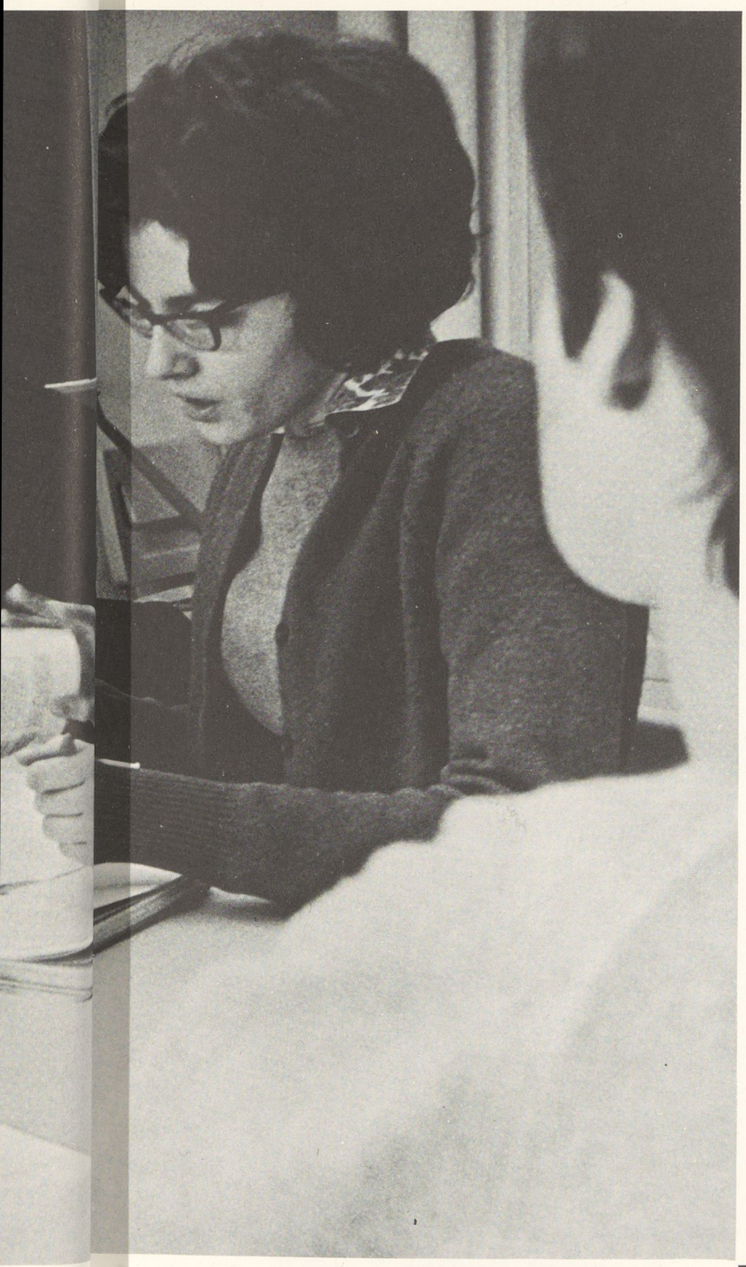
The first step of the 25 year development program; Beeghly Library. Here books are being moved from Carnegie to Beeghly Library.

Twenty-five years saw the phenomenal growth of college facilities, student enrollment, and continuing recognition. The dedication of the Brumbaugh Science complex climaxed his years of service . . .

This is our last confrontation with you, Dr. Ellis. We feel that we owe you appreciation for your concern, your searching, and your leadership in Juniata's change through continuity.



Faculty



". . . they not only know their subjects thoroughly, but are skilled in presenting subject matter in such a way that the student can relate it to his own experience in life. . . "

". . . to develop the whole man . . . "

Activities

". . . Juniata operates on the theory that the extra-curricular as well as the curricular contribute to the student's education . . ."

". . . to develop the whole man . . ."

Some students prefer solitary, leisurely pursuits to the rough-and-tumble action on athletic field.

Fall Mountain Day

Fall Mountain Day was clear but chilly as Juniata closed down for the day and adjourned to Greenwood Furnace where the activities included free play, hikes, and lunch. These were all highlighted by the senior-faculty football game or mud-sliding contest, the inter-class tug of war, and the girl-guy egg toss.

JWSF Week

The JWSF campaign this year ended on a gala note with the college Halloween Party, including the faculty tricycle race and the crowning of the freshman queen. Clubs set up booths, and students contributed dimes and dollars to help their favorite prof or administrator win the race around the gym. Other activities of the week included a shoeshine, bake sale, and student pledges.

Parent's Day

Parent's Day began with a concert by The Association in the well-filled Memorial Gym. Saturday brought class visitations, meetings, and a football victory.

The Homecoming festivities began Friday evening with a pep rally and bonfire. At this time the Homecoming Queen and her attendants were offically presented.

Homecoming Day began with the parade and was comprised of the class floats and six high school bands who were competing for the band award. The floats were built around the theme of the weekend "Happiness is . . ."

The afternoon brought a football victory against Susquehanna and the formal coronation of the Homecoming Queen. The climax of the day brought Woody Herman and his orchestra for a concert and the traditional dance.

My Heart's in The Highlands

As the fall play this year, Mr. Briggs and his cast presented the well-known My Heart's in the Highlands by William Saroyan. The story is of a struggling poet, his aged mother and his son, all of whom find meaning in the person and music of an old Scotchman, whose heart will never leave the highlands.

The American Dream

Also during the fall semester, Juniata played host to an intercollegiate drama festival. As their contribution to the one-act play competition, the Juniata students offered Edward Albee's powerful drama, The American Dream.

Starting off the 1967-68 Juniata Focus Series was the Jackie Warner production of Stop the World, I want to get off! Enthusiastically received by a capacity crowd, the professional company mimed the story of Little Chap, who rises from the ranks to the benches of Parliament, realizing in the end that his life has really been shallow and selfish.

American Dance Theatre

In February, Juniata was fortunate to have appear on the Oller Hall stage the internationally acclaimed Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater. This repertory company of ten dancers held the audience spellbound with its modern dance performances set to tangos, blues, spirituals, and other kinds of electrifying contemporary music.

The Company's performance of "Revelations," a suite exploring American Negro religious music.

A scene from the "Blues Suite," a sultry portion representing some songs of "lost love, despair, protest, and anger."

Move-Up Day

Move-up Day ceremonies this year marked the end of the administration of president Jim Hamilton and ushered in that of the new student government leader, Rick Beard. It was also the end of the first year under the new student government constitution, and the student administrative speeches were both reflective and prophetic as everyone began to look ahead to theirs and Juniata's immediate future.

March 15 and 16 this year were designated as "Music Weekend" at Juniata. The highlight of the weekend was the second big-name entertainment concert by Martha and the Vandellas, one of the top names of the Motown Sound. The near-capacity crowd in Memorial Gym was very enthusiastic as the group put on its show, and some of the spectators were even unable to stay in their seats. Also appearing on the program was the Cincinnati In-Crowd, a soul group from Pittsburgh. Following the music, faculty and administration members served free refreshments to students in Lesher dining room.

The enthusiastic audience listens to Martha and the Vandellas.

Medea

Medea addresses the chorus of Corinthian women.

The spring major play presented by the Speech and Theater Department this year was Robinson Jeffer's adaptation of the traditional Greek tragedy Medea by Aeschylus. The drama is the familiar story of the non-Greek wife of the Corinthian hero Jason, who is deserted for the golden-haired daughter of King Creon. In her revenge upon Jason, Medea destroys all who are dear to him—his new bride, his father-in-law, and even Jason's two little sons.

The chorus, a standard part of Greek drama—Barbara Valore, Peggy Berkebile, Kathy Wiggins.

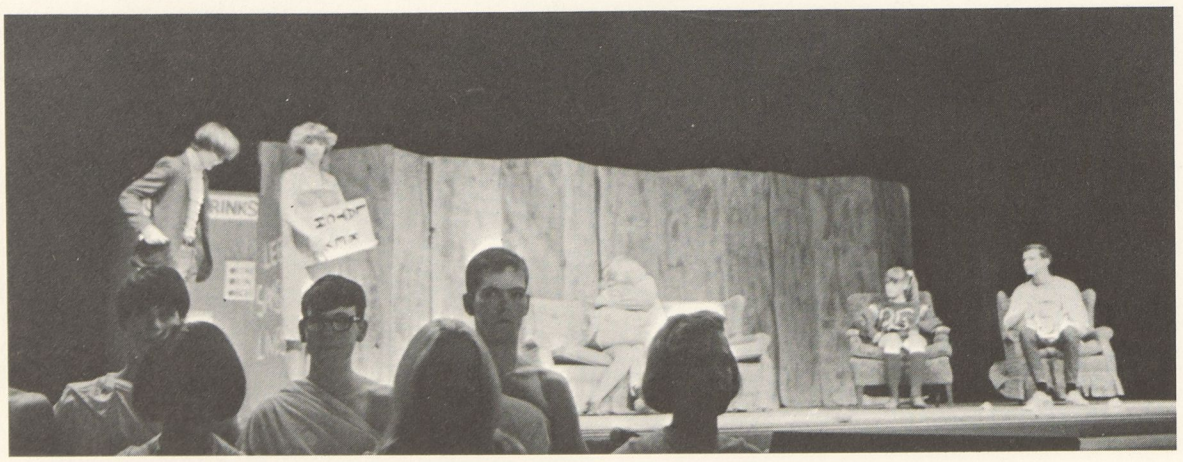
Medea confronts her former husband Jason, portrayed by Chris Moore.

Cathy Schwartz, Medea's faithful nurse bewails the tragedy that has befallen this once-proud house.

The Barbasol Gang lifts the safe from Totaled Inn.

The gang gloats over its success, as the typical Greek chorus responds.

The contribution of the Class of 1971 was an ingenious satire on Juniata and particularly on the Great Epochs class and this year's burglary of the post office and bank. As the Freshmen told it, the four faculty from the "Smallpox of World Cultures" planned and executed the perfect crime. The administration was stymied in its attempts to solve the crime until an inter-class competition, won by the Class of '71, produced the identity of the culprits.



The Administration attempts to solve the burglary.

The captain meets his bride-to-be as the crew members enjoy their island paradise.

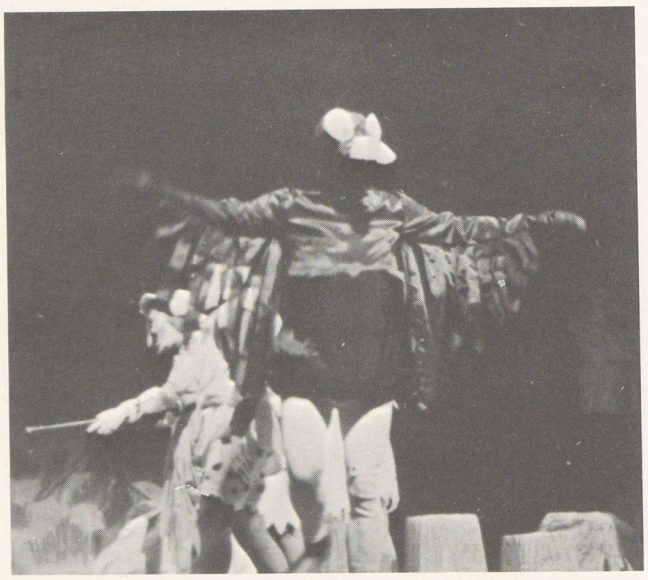
All Class Night

In a miraculous come-back in their second All Class Night try, the sophomores presented the tale of crew and captain who searched for treasure in a South Sea island utopia and got more than they bargained for. The captain, forced to marry the chieftain's daughter, so that the crew and ship could leave the island, found as the ship once more set sail that the treasure had turned into something less than desirable.

Sea-weary sailors finally spy more than water and hear the joyful cry of "land-ho"!

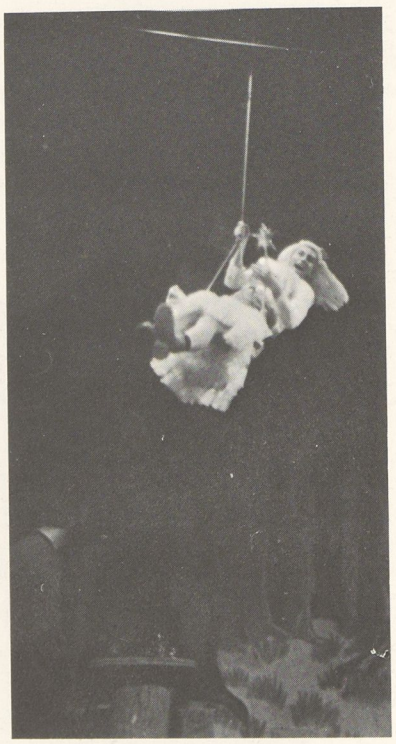
Some of the island's treasure.

Robin Hood confronts Snow White.



The Raven sets the tone of the tale.

The Juniors this year gave the audience the unexpurgated story of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, entitled "A Snow Job." Introducing the play was Poe's Raven; the colorful skit also brought on stage all sorts of storybook characters including the Three Bears, the Lone Ranger, Robin Hood and a Fairy Godmother.



The fairy Godmother swings in to "save" Snow White.

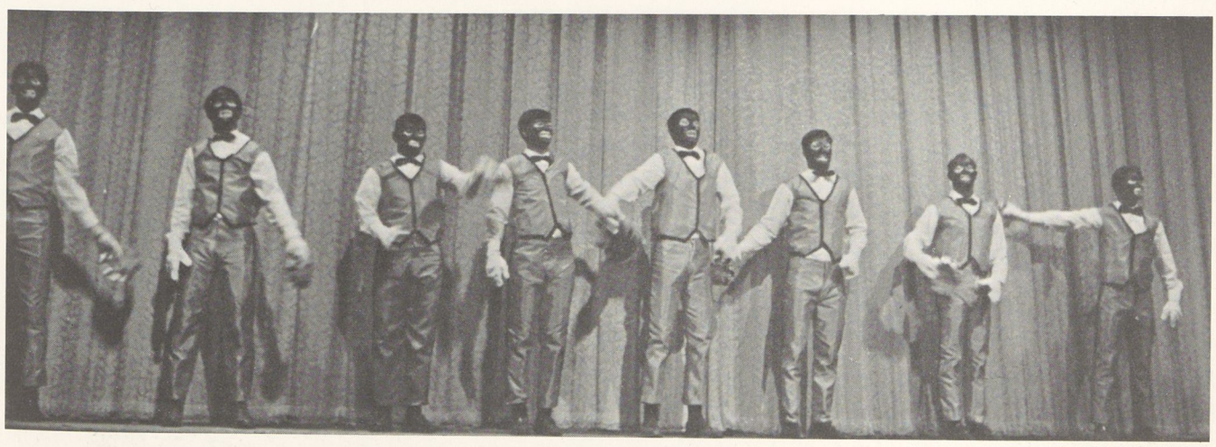
For the third straight year, the Class of 1968 took the silver cup, and with the third victory retired that cup for the second time in thirty-one years. This year's play was based on the old fashioned melodrama, complete with minstrels, hero, heroine, and villain. The colorful costumes and scenery designed by the seniors added to the delight of the comedy theme. Of course the villain was ultimately foiled but not until he had cheated the captain at cards, put Magnolia in the straights of peril, and fought a duel with the hero JC Fields.

On the showboat "Mudpuppy," the big finale.



The Minstrels open the old fashioned melodrama.

Bellefonte, JC Fields, Captain Gaylord Faquaw, and Magnolia Bountiful meet in front of the "Mudpuppy."

The Juniata Coaching staff: Bill Berrier, Jerry Sandusky, Fred Prender, Larry Landini.

Juniata opened its 1967 football season poised and confident. The Indians were set to defeat Westminster to set the pace for an undefeated season. Disaster struck early in the form of a 21-7 loss and in the shape of a quarterback for the Titans.

The Tribe's second effort ended on a winning note. This game seemed to set a precedent for further conquests as the Indians rolled up victory after victory. The first win was against Albright and brought the Pretzel Bowl home. At season's end our victory string rested at seven as the result of the massacres of Geneva, Lycoming, Lock Haven, Susquehanna and finally Moravian. The 7-1 record was Juniata's best since 1959.

Basketball

The Juniata Basketball Team lead by co-captains Will Brandau and Clair Kenyon finished with a 9-12 overall record and 7-8 in MAC's. Two overnight trips early in the season hurt the Indians as they dropped four games and a late season five game losing streak overshadowed many of the better parts of the season.

With the help of Freshman Leroy Wentz, Charles Harvey, John Smith and Jim McCarthy the Indians knocked off several MAC leaders (Lycoming, Scranton, Wilkes). The late season wins were helped by the great play of Joel Delewski and the steady work of Adam Barnhart, Gene Galbraith and Bruce Bader. With the Indians winning more games (9) than in the previous nine years following the 1958-1959 season, Juniata College has a bright future on the court.

Wrestling

The wrestling team was the best balanced one in J.C. history. Facing their first opponents Juniata readily faced them. However, turning to face Gettysburg the team went down to heartbreaking defeat. Nevertheless the next matches brought victory. J.C.'s last match saw the team in fine form as they completely handled Indiana 22-9 and finished with a record of 6-4.

At the end of the season J.C. traveled to L.V.C. to participate in the MAC Wrestling Championships where they secured sixth place. Much of the credit for a good season goes to Chris Sherk who became the first wrestler in J.C.'s history to post an undefeated dual meet record of 9-0-1. Chris also earned a second place in the MAC's to become the first J.C. wrestler to place that high.

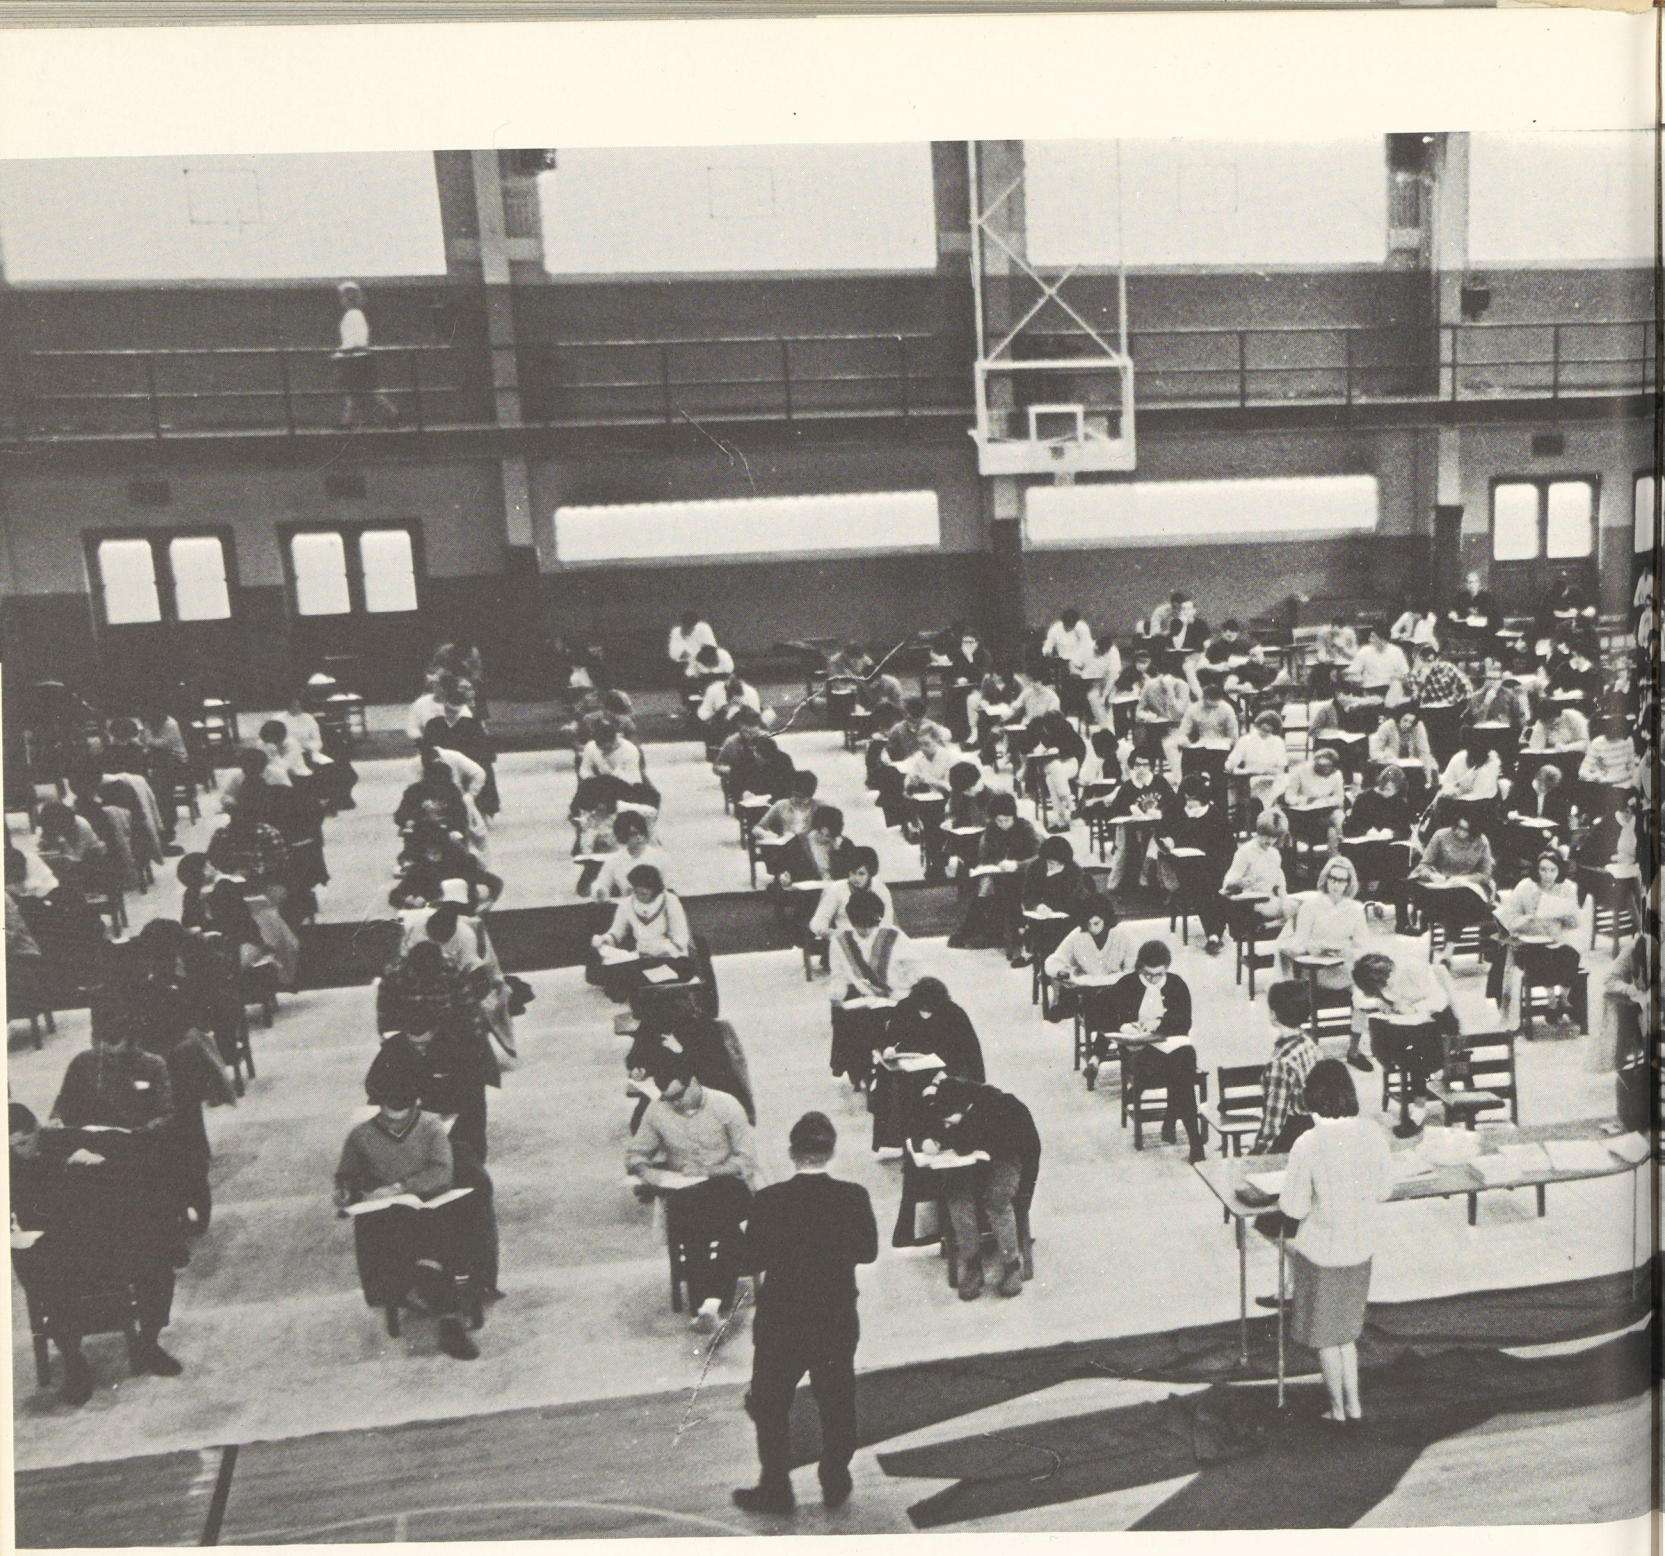
Future Frosh

As can be seen from the pictures Juniata's newest organization is strictly for future Frosh. This organization spends a great deal of time riding buses, reading Dr. Suess and harassing college students as they attempt to cross the Lesher Parking Lot during the future Frosh's recess.



Seniors

"... to a development of the student's total personality and to assist him in making the best use of his abilities for the greatest service to mankind."
